
Shared molecules and electronic-identity changes: ten points are not independent evidence.